

MFish 'open days' to discuss the dolphin threat management plan.

MFish are holding a series of "open days" to let more people know about the Maui's Threat Management Plan. The first 2 hours of the open days are informal where people can call in and obtain information, ask questions, make submissions and discuss the proposals with MFish and DOC staff. At around 5.30pm (4.30pm at Titirangi) we will give a short slide presentation that explains how and why options in the plan have been devised and included in the plan. This will most likely generate further discussion.

The full list of regional open days is below. They are for intended for everyone that is interested in dolphins, not just people who fish. It would be great if you could let others who are interested know about the days.
